

Architecture in the Anthropocene

Encounters Among Design, Deep Time, Science and Philosophy

Edited by Etienne Turpin

OPEN HUMANITIES PRESS

An imprint of Michigan Publishing University of Michigan Library, Ann Arbor

2013

Contents

- I Acknowledgments
- 3 Who Does the Earth Think It Is, Now?
introduction by Etienne Turpin
- II AnthroPark
design project by Michael C.C. Lin
- 15 Matters of Observation:
On Architecture in the Anthropocene
John Palmesino and Ann-Sofi Ronnskog in Conversation with Etienne Turpin
- 25 Radical Meteorology design project by Nabil Ahmed
- 29 Three Holes: In the Geological Present essay by Seth Denizen
- 47 Episodes from a History of Scalelessness:
William Jerome Harrison and Geological Photography essay by Adam Bobbette
- 59 Inquiries and Interpretations Concerning the Observations and Findings from Atmosphere-Investigating, Landscape-Exploring, Universe-Tracking Instruments, Their Experiments, Studies, Etc.
design project by Emily Cheng
- 63 Matters of Calculation: The Evidence of the Anthropocene Eyal Weizman in Conversation with Heather Davis and Etienne Turpin
- 83 Landscapes of San Francisco Bay: Plates from Bay Lexicon design project by Jane Wolff
- 87 Architecture's Lapidarium:
On the Lives of Geological Specimens essay by Amy Catania Kulper
- III Erratic Imaginaries: Thinking Landscape as Evidence essay by Jane Hutton

- 125 Swimming in It design project by Chester Rennie
- 129 Time Matters: On Temporality in the Anthropocene
Elizabeth Grosz in Conversation with Heather Davis and Etienne Turpin
- 139 Fortune Head Geologies
photo essay by Lisa Hirmer
- U3 Utopia on Ice: The Climate as Commodity Form essay by Mark Dorrian
- 153 The Mineralogy of Being essay by Eleanor Kaufman
- 167 Amplitude Modulation design project by Meghan Archer
- 171 Matters of Cosmopolitics: On the Provocations of GaYa Isabelle Stengers in Conversation with Heather Davis and Etienne Turpin
- 183 In the Furnace of Disorientation: Tragic Drama and the Liturgical Force of Metal essay by Guy Zimmerman
- 193 Tar Creek Supergrid
design project by Amy Norris and Clinton Langevin
- 197 Matters of Fabulation:
On the Construction of Realities in the Anthropocene Francois Roche in Conversation with Etienne Turpin
- 209 The Geological Imperative:
On the Political Ecology of the Amazonia's Deep History essay by Paulo Tavares
- 241 Contributors
- 248 Permissions