Simon Smithson  Foreword: On Editing and Pruning  14
Max Risselada  Introduction  18
M. Christine Boyer  Why Do Architects Write?  The Case of Team 10 and Alison & Peter Smithson  36
Richard Padovan  Seven Small Thoughts On The Architects’ Writings  66
Philip Johnson  School at Hunstanton  80
Christoph Grafe  Finite Orders and the Art of Everyday Inhabitation  98
Reyner Banham  The New Brutalism  112
Ben Highmore  Rough Poetry Patio and Pavilion Revisited  124
Dirk van den Heuvel  ‘Picking up, Turning over and Putting with…’  150
Kenneth Frampton  The Economist and the Hauptstadt  174
Irene Scalbert  ‘Architecture Is Not Made With The Brain’  isa
Peter Eisenman  From Golden Lane to Robin Hood Gardens. Or If You Follow the Yellow Brick Road, It May not Lead to Golders Green  206
Alan Powers  Robin Hood Gardens1 A Critical Narrative  228
Robin Middleton  The Pursuit of Ordinariness: Garden Building Oxford  246
Christopher Woodward  Drawing the Smithsons: An Artisanal Memoir  258
Cees Boekraad  The Way Back  268
Peter Cook  Regarding the Smithsons  290
David Dunster  Foreword: The Shift  308
David Turnbull  Scholars of Architecture  312
Peter Salter  Strategy and Detail  324
Marco Vidotto  Introduction to the Smithsons Exhibition Catalogue  334
Enric Miralles  On the Trundling Turk  340
Max Risselada  The Space Between  346
Beatriz Colomina  Couplings  354
Maddalena Scimemi  An Open Work by the Smithsons at Bad Karlshafen  368
Karl Unglaub  Material Reconstructed  384
Louisa Hutton  The Ten Chairs of Lauenförde  392
Jonathan Sergison and Stephen Bates  Lessons Learnt from Alison and Peter Smithson  400
Mark Wigley  Alison and Peter Smithson — The Architects of The Void A Critical Chronology  410
Writers’ Biographies  442
Bibliography  448