Knowledge, Organization, and Management

Building on the Work of Max Boisot

Edited by John Child and
Martin Ihrig

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS
Contents

List of Figures
List of Tables.
Contributors

I. Setting the Stage
   1. Max Boisot and the Dynamic Evolution of Knowledge
      Martin Ihrig and John Child

II. Analyses of the Chinese System
   2. From Fiefs to Clans and Network Capitalism: Explaining China's Emerging Economic Order
      Max Boisot and John Child
   3. Analyses of the Chinese System
      John Child

III. Organizational Complexity
   4. Extreme Outcomes, Connectivity, and Power Laws: Towards an Econophysics of Organization
      Max Boisot and Bill McKelvey
   5. Reflecting on Max Boisot's Ashby Space Applied to Complexity Management
      Bill McKelvey

IV. The Strategic Management of Knowledge
   6. The Creation and Sharing of Knowledge
      Max Boisot
   7. The Strategic Management of Knowledge
      Martin Ihrig and Ian MacMillan
V. Knowledge in Big Science

8. Generating Knowledge in a Connected World: The Case of the ATLAS Experiment at CERN
   Max Boisot

9. Knowledge in Big Science
   Agusti Canals

VI. Innovations in Education

    Max Boisot and Michel Fiol

11. Innovations in Education
    Dana Kaminstein and John Child

VII. Concluding Reflections

12. The I-Space as a Key to History and to Culture
    Gordon Redding

13. The Three Phases of Max Boisot's Theorizing
    John-Christopher Spender

14. Writing with Max Boisot
    Marshall Meyer

15. Remembering Max Boisot: Recollections of a Gifted Intellect at Work
    Ron Sanchez

16. I-Space and the Value of Basic Research
    Markus Nordberg

17. Boisot and the God Particle
    Marzio Nessi

18. Conclusion and Outlook
    John Child and Martin Ihrig

Bibliography

Index